Nantes

Georges-René JULIO started his business with his wife, Andrée Jardin, in Nantes, buying horsehair and preparing it for use in the manufacture of all kinds of brushes and mattresses.

Julio et Fils Ltd is founded, employing four of his children. The horsehair preparation business disappears, to be replaced by the manufacture of brushes solely for industrial use.

André JULIO takes over the family business. The company specialises in bespoke technical brushes for the local industry (agriculture, aeronautics and food processing).

Jean-Baptiste and François-Marie took over the family business and decided to create a range of high-end brushes for individuals. They named the brand Andrée Jardin in honor of their grandmother.

To expand its service offering, Brosseurie Julio acquired Brosseurie Cardot, a specialist in the manufacturing of metal brushes. Brosseurie Julio moved to larger premises and became a leading player in the design and production of custom technical brushes.
